Types of power agents in the political thought of Imam Khomeini

Reza Lakzaei
Researcher at Imam Sadiq (AS) Institute of Islamic Sciences, Qom, Iran.
rlakzaee@gmail.com

Abstract
It is the agents of power who make decisions for life, as far as they can determine the happiness and misery of man; Therefore, knowing the types of power brokers in the thought of the great contemporary political philosopher, Imam Khomeini, may God's mercy be upon him, is against the problem of this article. Based on the theoretical framework of two natures, which is based on the thought of Imam Khomeini, may God bless him and grant him peace, agents of power are classified into two models: transendent and learned. The agents of the transendent power are moving in the orbit of the straight path and have a comprehensive status and are called "Wali Amr". Scholarly power brokers are plural and are classified in three spectrums of one-dimensional, two-dimensional and three-dimensional in three situations: simple, complex and very complex. The article is organized by inferential method and using the theory of implication - conformity, implication and commitment - presented in the knowledge of logic and principles of jurisprudence. Knowing the agents of power plays a fundamental and key role in knowing all kinds of policies and politicians.

Keywords: Agents of transendent power, agents of scholarly power, types of agents, Imam Khomeini, Islamic political thought.

[Downloaded from frh.sccsr.ac.ir on 2026-10-07]

[DOR: 20.1001.1.2476745.1401.8.4.5.9]